

Casual for Kids

Every morning you wake up and have a somewhat similar routine. You roll out of bed, eat breakfast, dress your kids, and take off for work. However now, Ronald McDonald House Charities, Upper Midwest is sponsoring a "Casual for Kids" workday - so why not let the kids of the RMH dress you for a day?

Casual for Kids is a program that provides a sticker or "ticket" that allows employees to dress down for the day. For a suggested price of $5, each employee can buy and wear the CFK sticker and then dress casually for the day. The program can run every week, month, or year - depending on your organization's preference.

The Ronald McDonald House provides comfort and hospitality for families of children with serious pediatric illnesses or diseases. Thanks to the participation and support of many corporations and individuals, the House is able to provide lodging, programs, services and perhaps most importantly, a sense of community for families who are facing an uphill battle.

All of the proceeds go to the RMHC, so not only will you leave the office feeling casually comfortable, but also will be happy to know that you and your colleagues helped make a difference in a child's life.

Yes, we would like to participate in Casual for Kids to benefit the Ronald McDonald House Charities, Upper Midwest.
